The Chinese Authorities appear, by the last accounts from the North, to be now quite alive to the absolute necessity for making extraordinary exertions to relieve the dis.' tress in the famine-stricken districts, and large supplies of food have been sent forward. But it would appear that an utter want of organisation prevails, in conseor barely sustaining life and large quantities. of stores are spoiling or being, wasted, The plan adopted—if it can be called a plan at all-for distributing relief is not one calculated to economiso the supplies. The famine refugees are collected in large camps and just sufficient food is dealt out to keep them from starvation, but no attempt is made to give any of them employment. Considering the enormous disadvantages the country is labouring under from want of proper means of communications, would be far better and more profitable for the Imperial Government to increase the rations of the refugees and employ them in constructing one or two great highways by men manaport would be possible. At prosent the main difficulty in the way of effectually relieving the distress appears to be not so much want of supplies as the ability to forward them to the districts in need of

The Authorities in Honan have refused the assistance proffered by the agents of the China Inland Mission in a rather churlish manner. To some extent Mr. Monnison ad mits they are right; as the work of distribution might clash in some districts, but there are would prove most acceptable. Messrs. But the Honan Authorities might have shown a little more sense of gratitude for the well meant offers of the foreign distributors. Mr. MUIRHBAD, hon, secretary of the Famine boisted at all the Government establishments - Relief Committee, writing on the 14th inst., says :- "The conduct of the authorities in | Charybdis. Houan in refusing any assistance at the disposad of the above gentlemen, may be accounted for both by their prejudice against foreigners and by their self-satisfaction with what is being done. Not that there is any necessity for charitable aid, even though much is being carried on in the capital of the province; but professing that they have got the relief work well in hand, they resent any attempt to interfere with their operations. Though informed of the contrast in the case of the authorities in Chihli and Shansi, they were in no wise influenced by it, and only wished foreigners out of their sight." Prejudice against the foreigner seems to be deeply ingrained in the breasts of Chinese officials, and it is to be feared will not be easily eradicated. In Honan the officials have seen less of foreigners, and honce they are more suspicious of their motives in tendering assistance than the Authorities in Chihli, who have had more intercourse with foreigners. At the same time it ought to be obvious to the dullest and most jaundiced mind that the foreigners Mr. Francis defended. Among the telegrams congratulating the Emperor upon his escape from assassination was one signed by the President of the French Republic, MacMahou, which has made an especially favourable impression. BELLIN, May 16th?

It is reported that in view of the attack made upon the Emperor, the Government has resolved to propose or even to introduce by Administrative decrees serious restrictions on the freedom and right of public meetings. Efforts will be made to bring about common action on the part of Germany, Russia, England, the United States and other countries where Socialistic and Communistic symptoms have lately appeared. LONDON, May 16th.

Russian preparations to attack British com. merce attract great attention. The Times says: "The United States may be depended upon to do all in their power to observe the Treaty of Washington, but even if the Russians succeed in equipping their little fleet it will hardly do much mischief, and is more likely to fall victims to our cruisers than to inflict damage on our merchantmen. We might have some trouble at first, but a short time will suffice to clear the seas and make the passage of our vessels from one port to another as safe as now." The Queen will shortly inspect the troops at Woolwich; the first time in twenty-two years.

Though, in the first place, the necessity of the war-the independence of Christians - is insisted upon, there is on the other hand, no disposition to inscribe "Noli me tangere "on the map of New Bulgaria." which was only set up as a provisional draft. At the same time, other compensations than those fixed on in lieu of the war indemnity are - not regarded as excluded from discussion. The Admirol has a joke, and certain reverberations from various parts of the House which alarmed strangers in the gallery on Monday and Tuesday were simply the Admiral's undimmed enjoyment at each repetition of its recital to his many friends. It seems (according to the Admiral) that one day recently Mr. Plimsoll met Sir Charles Adderley, and said in his most friendly way, "I hear, Sir Charles, you are going to another place."
